

“A FUN AND FRESH WAY to educate your students about dating and relationship dynamics, sexual assault, and open minds.”

Hilary Cruz-Abrams,
Health Program Coordinator, The Kent School (CT)

The DATE SAFE Project works with schools and communities to reduce dating violence and sexual assault by shifting the paradigm for your students from a Don't Perspective to a Wait and How To – the Respectful way!

The Can I Kiss You? General Assembly instills 3 key messages:

Asking First to ensure consent through verbal communication. Result: Students slow down and respect boundaries for themselves and their partners.

Bystander Intervention to STOP someone from taking advantage of an intoxicated person at parties. Result: A safer school environment where less of the weekend's events lead to tragic outcomes.

Opening a Door for sexual assault survivors to come forward and be properly supported. Result: More survivors in your schools gain the support needed to help them thrive academically and socially.

Through humor and interactive participation, all genders are engaged in this uniquely designed program for your school and community.

Middle and High Schools: Can I Kiss You? General Assembly

“The ‘Can I Kiss You?’ program could not have been more well-targeted and eye-opening for our students. You were definitely the talk of the school for the next few days...Your presentation informed my students, and not only challenged them to think differently about dating, communication, alcohol use and sexual assault, but gave them specific ways to BEHAVE differently. This clear and pragmatic approach is perfect for students.”

KAREN LACK, DIRECTOR OF GEAUGA TEEN PREGNANCY PREVENTION (OH)

“The results of evaluations that our students completed following this assembly were overwhelming in evoking pledges of positive behavioral change. I think this was a ‘wake up call’ for a great many of our students who simply had never been challenged to think in the way that Mike challenged them to.”

MICHAEL J. DROLL, HIGH SCHOOL GUIDANCE COUNSELOR (IA)

LOCAL EXPERTISE

By bringing in a local agency to present the program, your students and staff will have a resource they can call and/or visit throughout the year.
